Experimental philosophy meets philosophy of science

Joshua Alexander | SPSP2016

Experimental philosophy uses methods from the social and cognitive sciences to study philosophical cognition – how our minds work when we think about philosophical questions. This session will provide a brief introduction to the field, focusing on recent experimental work on disagreement and the epistemic benefits of cognitive diversity.